2. As already intimated to Government, much difficulty is experienced in obtaining woollen and cotton materials. The available materials for clothing may not be sufficient to meet the increasing demands of indenting officers entitled for free supply of clothing. The class of servants mentioned in the application, viz., station wagon driver, and sentries are not supplied with clothing by this Department. In the circumstances it is suggested that Director may be authorised to arrange for the supply departmentally if Government are pleased to sanction the supply of uniforms to the persons mentioned in the application.

I am to point out that uniforms are, as you know, not provided to the staff at the Govt. factories at Calicut and that it is not necessary to supply uniforms to the staff of the Govt. Silk Filature Factory, Kollegal. ~~As regards your having ordered for the uniforms in anticipation of the sanction of the Govt.~~ I am also to inform you that Heads of Depts. are not competent to sanction expenditure of this kind and that you should not have ordered the purchase & the uniforms without the previous sanction of Govt.

DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT

My dear Sivasankar,

Sub: Government Silk Filatures, Kollegal - Uniforms for peons, waggon driver and sentries.
Ref: Your D.O.No.23384-D/43-3, dated 22nd November 1943.

I am fully aware of the existing rules governing the supply of uniforms to certain menial staff employed in the Government institutions and offices. As these rules did not obviously cover the cases in question, I sought the sanction of Government. In your D.O. you have pointed out that the executive menial staff attached to the Kerala Soap Institute etc. at Calicut has not been provided with uniforms. This is true. I would on the other hand point out that the several Ordnance Factories run in Madras under the Government of India have provided special uniforms to the executive menial staff employed in the factories, and after all the Government Silk Filatures at Kollegal is a Government of India concern under our management. We need not, I submit, do the menials out of their uniforms on the ground that we act as India's agent. I do not, however think that precedents one way or the other should decide such questions. As you know, the Filatures are situated in a notified area where cocoon and silk controls operate. The executive menial staff of the Filatures in the course of their duties comes in contact not only with a large number of labourers employed there, but also with members of the public who come round to transact business in the silk factories, either to sell cocoons (the cocoon market being situated within the premises of the Factory) or to purchase silk (the Silk Depot also being within the premises) for the public. Unless these servants of the factory are equipped with official uniforms, it would not only be difficult for the General Manager and other supervising staff to recognise them but also for the public, the executive menial staff should be uniformed if for no other reason than to announce to one and all their identity so that directions when given by them may be complied with without questioning. Further, I consider that the provision of uniforms will enhance the discipline of the executive menial staff who will be taught to maintain the dignity of their office. The uniforms would not only instil a sense of importance in the staff but also ensure the staff respect of others. I might also point out that my proposals were most modest since out of 27 such employees of the Government Silk Filatures, only 9 had been singled out by me for the supply of uniforms. I therefore strongly urge upon Government the necessity, in the light of all that I have stated above, for the provision of uniforms as suggested in my letter No.312-Es/43 dated 24th July 1943. I also suggest that sanction be accorded for the supply of uniform to the lorry driver recently appointed. The lorry driver will be in charge of valuable cocoons during their transport from the markets to the Filatures. Being uniformed, he would command the respect of villagers and when necessary, command their help also should the lorry break down.

2. As regards the purchase of uniforms already effected, I may point out that this was done, except in so far as the station wagon driver is concerned, by the General Manager who when asked to submit quotations for the supply of uniforms with reference to Government telephonic message dated 18th August 1943 purchased cloth for the purpose as he considered the supply of uniforms essential and the prices of materials at the time of offer most favourable. As regards the station wagon driver I gave personal orders to this effect as no precedents were available one way or the other. Enlightened private employers supply their chauffers with uniforms and I do not suppose that Government would like to become known nowadays as anything but enlightened employers.

3. The General Manager has been asked to report the particulars called in paragraph 2 of your D.O. and on their receipt, I shall communicate further with you.

Yours sincerely,

3.11.43 The fact that the G. of I. will pay through the price of silk is not an argument that will justify any laxity in exp & it should not be used for that purpose. We should treat their interests as our own in this matter & observe the strictest econom in order to keep down the price of the silks. Uniforms are supplied at Govt cost to persons in the Secty & a few of thos in the City offices but not to those in the mufassal. Though owing to special measures taken in regard to stock supply position of cloth, ~~may be~~ is easier at the moment, it is essenti to observe the strictest economy in the use of it for Govt purposes throughout the war, as the production is not really sufficient to meet all urgent ~~demands~~ needs.

m. adheres to its advice that there is no case for supplying uniforms at Govt cost to peons or other staff at the Govt Silk Factory. The D.I.C.'s argument at X p.4 N.t. is quite unacceptable. It is possible to make menials keep themselves clean without providing Govt uniform, & the provision of uniform would not cure any diseases they have or make them immune for the future. If the argument were accepted, it would apply equally to all Govt offices & institutions & involve enormous cost. So far as this dept knows peons etc. in the Govt. Soap, Oil & Malt Factories are not given free uniforms, & no special reason has been shown why they should be in the Govt. Silk Factory.

I can see no excuse for the D.I.C.'s having ordered the uniforms in anticip[n] of sanction. This was not urgent & he had applied for

This file deals with the proposal of the DIGe for the supply of uniforms to the peons, Station wagon Driver and Sentis employed in the Govt Film Illustration Factory Kollegal. The expenditure involved is Rs 218/- and the DIGe has, it is stated, purchased the uniforms in anticipation of sanction of the Govt for the reasons stated in their notes at pp 1-3 above & 4-6 above, this Dy do not accept the proposal of the DIGe. This Secy has suggested that the cost of the uniforms be recovered from the staff, if they are willing and that otherwise the DIGe may sell them for what they will fetch and make good the difference himself. To Addl. A.S. order of Secy on f 12 above

It is understood from E+P.H. Dept. that there is no G.o. which sets out the general principles which should be borne in mind when sanctioning uniforms to peons. There is only one G.o. issued by this Dept in regard, Viz G.o. 2082 E+P.H. d 30.9.36 which the Scales of Supply of uniforms to peons in the Secretariat depts. are specified. The G.o. has been requisitioned from H.R.o. and is awaited. That dept has however issued instructions for the guidance of the other depts: re: supply of uniforms during the War.

The general principles are contained in para 2 of the G.o. note no. 38781-1B. d. 26.11.43 issued by E+P.H. which is put up at (G) Vide also instances at pp 30-31 of "Stationery Manual Vol 2" post belt & badge are considered sufficient to ensure recognition

the public & adequate prestige in the case of Rev. Dept. pers

& should ordinarily be sufficient in the case of similar staff of other depts. In the case in the linked file there were special reasons that were held to justify provision of uniform as an exception to the general rule. I cannot see any such special reasons in the present case, except possibly in the case of the lorry driver. A belt & a badge should be ample to secure recognition & prestige for the peons & sentries. The D.I.C. may be told that it is the practice in other factories run by this Govt that is relevant & the practice in Ordnance Factories is not relevant.

Fin. would not object to provision of uniform for the lorry driver as a special case on the analogy of the case in the linked file. Apart from that there seems to be no case for modifying the orders already issued. Allman see if Dest ress for any change in the previous orders in O.M.

This file deals with the proposal of the D.I & C. for supply of uniforms to the Lorry Driver and certain menials of the Govt. Silk Filature factory, Kollegal. Reference is invited to the ~~memo~~ D.O. issued to the D.I & C., on the orders in circulation at pp 8–9 above. For the reasons stated in his D.O. at pp ~~17~~ 17–18 ante, the D.I & C. has again requested that the Govt. may reconsider the decision and approve his proposal including the uniform for a lorry driver recently appointed.

This Dept. Consider that the proposed supply of uniforms satisfies the Criterion laid down at 'A' in the U.O. note at (G). E & P.H. have no remarks. Fin state that they would not object to the provision of uniforms for the
